FROM WASHINGTON.

Trial of Mr. Davis--Merchants' National Bank Failure, Etc.

WASHINGTON, May 10.

It is stated on reliable authority that the government has concluded to try Jeff. Davis in a civil court in the State of Virginia, and that it is not unlikely that Chief Justice Chase will preside, and Attorney General Speed conduct the prosecution.

The Merchants' National Bank is still opened daily, and the officers who remain at their posts continue to essay to give comforting assurances to private depositors and others. It is now ascertained that the bank had on deposit of government funds from the Interior Department, on account of Indian funds, $32,937; Post-office Department, dead letter fund, waste paper fund and disbursing clerk, $9,000; Treasury Department, $5,000, and paymaster's and quartermaster's, $640,163, total $687,000.—Treasurer Spinner, it is stated, holds above the amount necessary for the redemption of the notes of the bank about $140,000, leaving a loss for the government of $547,000, without having recourse to the stockholders, or counting upon the probable non-return of a large portion of the notes of the bank, or the bank recovering or having anything from the general assets of the concern. The official inquiry now going on will soon demonstrate the amount of the private deposits, their liabilities and assets. Information from Baltimore indicates that nothing of any account will be recovered from Bayne, or Bayne & Co., of Baltimore. Treasurer Spinner states that the money of the government placed on deposit by Paymaster Paulding, was so deposited without authority, and against contrary orders.

The city council has, by joint resolution, agreed to extend the hospitalities of the city to the great American philanthropist, George Peabody, Esq., and to instruct the mayor of Washington to address to him a letter inviting him to visit this city.

Hon. John Minor Botts, who has been in Washington for several weeks, has gone north.

JUDGE CLAY AT HOME.

The Huntsville Independent says that Clement C. Clay arrived at home from Fortress Monroe on Sunday morning. As soon as the fact was known, a large number of friends hastened to greet him, at the residence of his father, and on Monday the parlors of the mansion were thronged with gentlemen from the city and country to welcome him back. Prison life has left visible marks upon his frame, and his head is sprinkled with premature grey. His conversation partook largely of his prison experiences, which was free from any bit of sensure or acrimony of feeling.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Secretary of the Treasury has given notice that the Treasury of the United States has been instructed to receive and pay unmatured United States certificates of indebtedness, with accrued interest to the extent of twenty millions of dollars, if presented to him before the first proximo.

The Third National Bank of Baltimore has declared a dividend of five per cent. upon the capital stock for the past six months, payable on and after the 18th instant. National taxes paid by the bank.

The Bank of Northern Liberties, Philadelphia, announces a semi-annual dividend of 10 per cent., 7 regular and 3 extra, free of tax.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 9.

SENATE.—Mr. Grimes, from the Naval Committee, reported a bill to restore Commander Chas. Hunter to his former rank in the Navy. In the early part of the war Commander Hunter pursued a blockade runner, and ran her ashore and captured her, on the coast of Cuba, within a marine league of that island. The Spanish Government took umbrage at this as a violation of the neutrality laws, and Commander Hunter was cashiered at its demand.—The bill was passed.

The resolutions introduced, yesterday, upon a measure for preventing the introduction of cholera, and the postal appropriations bill, were discussed, without definite action on either.

A bill was introduced to regulate appointments to and removals from office.

HOUSE.—The House to-day passed the bill to allow Vice Admiral Farragut to have a Secretary, with the rank and pay of a Lieutenant in the Navy.

The special order, namely, the joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution, was taken up and several members availed themselves of the opportunity to deliver thirty minute speeches for and against the proposition. Among those who endorsed the amendment was Mr. McKee, of Kentucky.

Mr. Raymond was willing to accept the report, provided the third section was stricken out.

Congress and the Secession.

According to Mr. THADDEUS STEVENS, the war waged by the seceded States against the Union was not a war against the Union at all, but a war against that high, mighty, and paramount body, "the Congress."

In yesterday's debate, Mr. STEVENS said: "Against the will of Congress the Southern States had been absent for four bloody years; "against the will of Congress they must not "come back until Congress is ready to receive them."

The doctrine that the people of the United States exist for the sake of "Congress, and not "Congress" for the sake of the people, could not well be more broadly or more impudently put. "Against the will of Congress," forsooth! Pray, what more had "Congress" to do with resisting the secession of the South than the President, than the army, than the navy, than the Legislatures of the loyal States, than the Governors, than the PEOPLE of those States! Like all the other formal and constituted machinery of society and government among us, "Congress" is but a means for the expression of the popular will. Upon what meat hath this our Congress fed that it has grown so great! And how much longer are we to be called upon to tolerate this self-constituted despotism of a legislative 'Rump' at Washington!—N. Y. World.

RELIGION AND POLITICS.—The New York Methodist Conference has passed resolutions thanking the Senate for passing the civil rights bill over the President's veto.

Death of the Hon. George E. Badger.

It is with feelings of profoundest regret that we have to announce that the Hon. George E. Badger departed this life, at his residence in this City, on yesterday, about twelve o'clock, M. He was seized, a few days since, with another attack of the malady that has, for several years past, confined him as an invalid to his home, which resulted, notwithstanding skilful medical treatment, in his death at the time mentioned. He was in the 72nd. year of his age.

Thus has been extinguished, what, before it was partially obscured by disease, was perhaps the brightest light in the intellectual horizon of our State. Mr. Badger, during a long and brilliant career, filled some of the highest positions in the State and National departments of government, and adorned and illustrated them all. In the Senate of the United States, in its palmy days, when it was the arena of those grand intellectual displays that were participated in by the great triumvirate of mind and statesmanship,—Webster, Clay and Calhoun,—he was recognized as an equal and a peer. As a jurist he had few equals, and no superiors, and as a forensic and parliamentary orator and rhetorician he was almost unsurpassed. Added to his super-eminent abilities, he was possessed of a genial kindliness of nature, and an elevated purity of character, that marked him the model man, no less than the master mind.

Our space compels us to defer, until our next, a suitable biographical sketch of the great man that has gone from our midst, and a proper tribute to his memory. The whole State will deeply mourn its loss, and appreciate the sad void that his departure makes.

We have no doubt but that our citizens will promptly take steps to show their appreciation of the bereavement which Raleigh has sustained in the death of one who, living, added to its name and character, and was always devoted to its interests.

Disfranchisement.

To make the disfranchisement of the Southern people the condition and basis of "reconstruction," and to make that disfranchisement depend upon the consent of the persons to be disfranchised, is a stroke of statesmanship that has no parallel in history. Well does The Nation attribute to the committee of Solomons who invented this queer contrivance "a want of practicalness." That journal, which sometimes manifests sound sense and conservatism as well as good feeling, says: "No better mode of keeping alive feelings of disloyalty and of irritation could be devised than disfranchisement on a great scale, for an offence of which this generation, at least, does not see the moral guilt, and we greatly fear never will be got to see it, do what we may to open their eyes.—Everything which looks like persecution will, of course, only irritate its objects; keep alive the old feelings of exasperation; and, by dividing the community into two classes, the one favored, the other outlawed, lay the foundation for hates and feuds of which we fear this century would not witness the termination. We doubt if any worse service could be rendered to the Union men of the South than the commission to them—handful as they are—of power or privileges withheld from their neighbors. The curse of test oaths, and all the rest of the apparatus for ascertaining men's loyalty, is that it breeds and perpetuates social hates; and a republican community, in which these have not only found a place but are fostered by law, may be fairly said to be possessed by devils."

AT THE SAME TIME that the Radicals are clamoring for negro suffrage, they propose to disfranchise, for a term of years, every man who participated in the revolution. This is the logical tendency of all their schemes. The government is to be turned over to the blacks.—They are to do the voting, and, of course, hold the offices. If no man of the South who took part in the war is allowed to vote for members of Congress, or for President or Vice President, or any other Federal officer, of course within a very small fraction of the whole male population of the Southern States will be excluded.—Under such a regulation, and with the test-oath in force, how do these wise Jacobins expect members of Congress to be elected? Who is to vote for them and who is to be voted for? The effect will be to totally deprive the South of all representation, unless by negroes. We have no fear that so monstrous a proposition will receive the sanction of the American people.

Passage of the Reconstruction Report in the House.

We learn, from a telegram in the Progress of last evening, that the House of Representatives, on yesterday, by a vote of one hundred and twenty-eight to thirty-seven, adopted the entire report of the Reconstruction Committee.

Stevens made a bitter speech immediately before the vote was taken, urging the radicals present to present themselves in solid column for its support.

We have no room for comment on this culmination of infamy.

ADJOURNMENT.—The Episcopal Methodist Conference at New Orleans adjourned on the 3rd. inst.

THE SOUTH owes it to herself, and her children, to concede nothing more to the Radical spirit. Let us be quiet. Let us obey every law, fully and promptly, that may be passed, until we can test their authority before the proper tribunals. In one word, let us be true to ourselves.

As the Memphis Avalanche observes, the right to suffer remains with us; and one other right, also. Nay this is now become a positive duty. It is our duty to support the President in his policy of restoration, in every way possible. He has thrown himself to the front in meeting the assault of Radicalism upon the Constitution. He believes that the white man of the South is the equal of the white man of the North, and that this government was made as much for the former as the latter. He has distinctly announced that he is totally opposed to the Civil Rights Bill, and all those laws and propositions which but degrade us of the South. He has formally declared, in terms too plain for doubt, that he does not go with Stevens, Sumner and Brownlow, and their Jacobin followers. He is for saving the country, by kind, conciliatory measures; they are the "Lord's anointed," and will save in their way, and in no other,—by an iron rule. He is for making us of the South feel that we have an interest in the Government, by restoring us our rights and privileges without conditions degrading to our manhood; their course but creates in the hearts of the Southern people an utter indifference as to all future political laws. We must choose between him and them, and our policy is clear. Let us have no wavering in the support to be given to Andrew Johnson. He is the only representative the South now has in any department of government. Let our confidence be given to him with an eye single to the ultimate restoration of all our rights. Let us refuse any and all further amendments of the Constitution. If there be any in the North so credulous as to think the South will agree to negro-suffrage as a measure through which she is to regain Congressional representation, let us show, when the occasion may offer, how little they know Southern men. If the Radicals shall say to the South, "Let the negro vote, and you can again have a voice in the legislation of the country," the South may, with one will and accord, say "No." We can best sustain President Johnson in his opposition to the Radicals, by refusing all amendments of the Constitution.

GOLD closed in New York, on the 9th., at 129¼. Cotton quiet at 34 @ 35 cents. Flour had advanced 20 cents, and wheat 10 @ 15 cents.

For the Sentinel.

BUREAU OF REFUGEES, FREEDMEN AND ABANDONED LANDS, Headquarters Asst. Com., State of N. C.
Raleigh, N. C., May 11, 1866.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I have no time to answer the newspaper attacks upon the Freedmen's Bureau, and those connected with it, nor do I suppose that any gentleman would think of attempting to exonerate himself from charges preferred in the New York Herald.

There is, however, one painful occurrence mentioned in the article quoted in your paper of this morning's date, of which, for the sake of truth and justice, I wish to give a correct version.

It is true that a colored man was convicted by Capt. H. James of burglary, and sentenced to hard labor at ditching. The man escaped from the guard, and in attempting to arrest him, a white man employed by Capt. James fired upon him as he was swimming the river, having first ordered him to return to shore and surrender. The whole transaction was reported to me, and I, hoping that the shot had not taken effect, returned the papers to await further evidence. Such evidence was afterwards obtained, and just at the time when these Herald correspondents were in North Carolina, I received the information that the negro man was actually killed, and an officer was ordered at once to investigate the whole matter and report upon it for further action. Such is the situation of the case. Proper steps have been taken to secure justice to all parties.

As to the other false charges contained in the article above alluded to, I will only say that no officer has to my knowledge neglected his duties, to engage in any private business, and if some have invested their money to assist those who are trying to revive the industrial interests of the State, probably the land owners who profit most by such use of capital will not be very eager to condemn them.

Very Respectfully,
E. WHITTLESEY,
Asst. Comm'r.

True Bill for Treason against Jeff. Davis.

NORFOLK, May 11.—Late Saturday afternoon, the grand jury of the U. S. circuit court, in session here, brought in a true bill against Jefferson Davis for treason. The court then adjourned until the first Tuesday in June, to re-assemble in Richmond.—Progress, 11th.

Later From Valparaiso.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Panama advices state that the news from South America is unimportant. Matters remained perfectly quiet since the bombardment of Valparaiso. All the Spanish fleet, with one exception, sailed for Northern ports. The Danish Consul General sent a note to the Spanish Admiral, saying his Government would hold Spain responsible for damage done to Danish property in Valparaiso. The Admiral refused to receive the note.

Immediately after the bombardment, the English minister was requested to vacate the premises occupied by him. No one will rent him another house. His name was also stricken from the list of members of the Club de la Union.

There were only two lives lost and eight wounded. One hundred and fifty-one government stores, containing upwards of eight millions of foreign merchandise, were destroyed. The bulk of the loss will fall on foreigners.

At Callao preparations were actively making for the reception of the Spanish fleet by fortifications.

THADDEUS STEVENS, the leader of the Republican party, its foremost representative man, and the exponent of its best intelligence, got up in the House of Representatives yesterday, and said he was credibly informed that, with free labor, cotton could be produced for one cent a pound!

Would it not be base flattery to call this man an ass? —N. Y. World.

Ex-President Pierce was confirmed in St. Paul's (Episcopal) Church at Concord, N. H., last Sunday.

GENERAL NEWS.

Secretary McCulloch's visit to Fortress Monroe was merely one of pleasure, and has no significance in an official point of view. His colored steward, who had formerly belonged to Mrs. Davis, paid his respects to that lady, and was becomingly received. The Secretary has returned to Washington, and reports that the prison treatment extended to Mr. Davis is unnecessarily severe.

The United States Court was opened on the 8th at Savannah. On Thursday the constitutionality of the test oath was to have been argued.

It is now positively stated that the President will veto the Colorado bill on account of the floating character and small number of its population.

The Acting Attorney General has decided that bankers doing business as brokers are subject under the Internal Revenue law to pay duties upon all sales of stock, &c., whether negotiated for themselves or others. Instructions in conformity with this opinion have been issued by Commissioner Rollins to assessors and collectors.

The New York homœopaths have gained a victory in obtaining a promise that representatives of their school of practice shall be admitted to the hospitals in case of visitation of the cholera.

General Sickles, on Monday, notified both the President and Secretary of War that he did not wish the mission to the Hague, but desired to retain his present command. He will probably be allowed to remain in command at Charleston.

Major General O. O. Howard has despatched Brevet Major F. W. Gilbreth, a member of his staff, to Memphis, Tenn., to investigate the causes which led to and the circumstances attending the late riot in that city.

DR. CHEEVER REBUKED.—Dr. Cheever, in his sermon in New York on Sunday, referring to the President, said to his congregation: "You have power with God that may sweep him from the place of power." Several members of the congregation arose and left the place when this sentence was pronounced.

Some of the lady friends of Mrs. Davis, residing in Baltimore, are making up various articles as presents, which will be shortly forwarded to Fortress Monroe, for her use during her sojourn in the fortress.

A correspondent of a New York paper, writing of the graves of Federal soldiers at Salisbury, N. C., adds:

"I should here state that those of the prisoners who were Masons are buried in another enclosure, each grave having its head-board bearing the square and compass, as well as the name, company, and regiment of the dead."

NEW YORK, May 9th.—The health officers report four new cases of cholera, but no deaths in hospital ship since last report.

A STRANGE SHEEP.—Mr. Samuel Swartz, of Rockingham, has a lamb not yet a year old, which yields seven pounds of wool, the average length of which is one foot. The lamb weighs sixty pounds. We have some of the wool in our office. What is even more remarkable than the length and weight of its fleece, is the fact that it was for some time very black, and is now white.—Stanton Spectator.

A correspondent of the New York Herald states that cholera never visits the vicinity of sulphur springs, and that an application of flour of sulphur to the feet is a preventive of the disease. Haverstraw, New York, is noted for the manufacture of brick, in the burning of which sulphurous fumes are evolved, and to the prevalence of the fumes thus generated is ascribed the fact that that town has enjoyed immunity from all visitations of the epidemic, though located on the river side within thirty miles of New York city.

A despatch from Memphis, dated the 4th, to the Cincinnati Gazette, says:

A grand ball was given at the Gayoso House last night, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to the purchase of limbs for the maimed Confederate soldiers. It was crowded with beauty and fashion, and is considered one of the most brilliant affairs ever witnessed in Memphis. Over five thousand dollars were realized. It was noted that many of the guests were Northern people of Union principles.

James Stewart, a small negro boy, was taken before a police court in Louisville, charged with stealing $180. The investigation of the case developed the following new dodge: Two boys will go along the street together, and in passing a store the hat of one is snatched by the other and thrown into the store, behind the counter. The boy, when he goes to get his hat, takes what money there is in the drawer, and the two divide.

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—The death warrant for the execution of Antoine Probst, on Friday, June 8th, was received by the Sheriff this morning. The prisoner received the announcement quietly and apparently unmoved. He had previously told his confessor that he believed death was the only expiation for his crime and was willing to suffer.

NEW FIRM.—We invite attention to the card of Messrs. Conant & Hunter, of Portsmouth, successors to Messrs. Cain & Co., who have associated together in the general commission business. These gentlemen are extensively and favorably known. From our personal acquaintance with the energy, enterprise and business capacity of the firm, we take great pleasure in recommending them to our friends and the public. We bespeak success and a liberal patronage.—Norfolk Virginian.

GENERAL EWELL.—Among the farmers in this city on Monday last, we were glad to meet this gentleman, so distinguished as a soldier, who is now a resident of "Old Maury," and is going largely into stock farming. The General has a magnificent farm, is entering upon his new life with his accustomed energy and zeal, and we hope and predict for him great success. He appears in excellent health and cheerful spirits. —Maury County (Tenn.) Herald.

A Frenchman who had won a high rank among the men of science, yet who denied the God who is the author of all science, was crossing the great Sahara in company with an Arab guide.—He noticed, with a sneer, that at certain times his guide, whatever obstacles might arise, put them aside and kneeling on the burning sands, called on his God. Day after day passed and still the Arab never failed; till at last one evening the philosopher, when he rose from his knees, asked him, with a contemptuous smile, "how do you know that there is a God?" The guide fixed his burning eye on the scoffer for a moment in wonder, and then said, solemnly, "How do I know there is a God? How did I know that a man, and not a camel, passed my tent last night in the darkness? Was it not by the print of his foot in the sand? Even so—and he pointed to the sun, whose last rays were flashing over the lonely desert—that footprint is not that of man."

NO MORE DIRT EATING.—The people of the Northern States, says the Baltimore Gazette, invaded the South professedly for the purpose of preventing a dissolution of the Union and of upholding the Constitution. Having overcome the South, they now propose to deal with that section as the Goths and Vandals were wont to deal with conquered nations. Congress has ceased to trouble itself about the provisions of the Constitution, the rights of the States or the liberties of the people, when it legislates for those who live south of the Potomac. The Reconstruction Committee has determined that they shall only be admitted to political equality with the people of the North when they consent to humble themselves in the dust and to abandon the rights and privileges which the Federal and State Constitutions guarantee them. They are required to accept an amendment to the Federal Constitution which precludes them from even passing laws which discriminate between the white man and the negro, and which disfranchises every man so far as the Presidential election is concerned, for four years to come. After they shall have modified their constitutions and laws in accordance with the directions of Congress, and have thus surrendered their most inestimable rights, the Southern States are to be suffered to send to Washington such representatives only as can take the test oath. These will, in nine cases out of ten, be the most dishonest and disreputable men of their respective districts, for there are few decent people in the South who did not encourage or participate in her struggle for independence. At the same moment when this proposition to amend the Constitution is submitted to the States, an act is to be passed by Congress which declares that the vast majority of the most intelligent and influential citizens of the South shall be henceforth 'ineligible to office under the Government of the United States." As the Radical faction is bent upon governing this country after its own absolute fashion, the measures agreed upon by the Reconstruction Committee are well adapted to secure the end in view. But we cannot understand how the Southern States can be asked or expected to assent to any such terms as the price of their re-admission to their former places in the Federal Union. Deprived of their olden rights and prerogatives as States, and compelled to disfranchise and humiliate a vast proportion of their people, the ten or twelve members of the "Union as it was" would come back only as scourged slaves or captives to swell the triumph of an imperial government. If it is determined that they are to be ruled as subjugated provinces they cannot resist the savage decree. But they can refuse to accept self degradation, and we trust the Southern people will spurn indignantly and promptly the miserable bid offered them for the sale of their birthright.—Aug. Const.

Trial of Major Jno. H. Gee.

SYNOPSIS OF TESTIMONY.

FORTY-FIFTH DAY.

WEDNESDAY, May 9, 1866.

[CONCLUDED.]

Examination of T. D. Meares, Continued. I got to the prison after the outbreak occurred. I did not know Maj. Gee at the time. I was going home and heard the booming of a gun, and I knew what the reason of it was, because there had been a general rumor for some time that the prisoners were determined to break out of prison and lay waste the town of Salisbury, and it produced a good deal of excitement there. There had been a good deal of feeling against the officers of the prison, because provisions went into the prison and they could hardly buy anything in the market.

I got a revolver from a crippled Confederate soldier and went down to the prison. By the time I got there the thing was quiet. While standing at the gate a gentleman passed by, a Maj. Smith, and remarked to me: "There comes that damned fellow, Gee." Says I, 'whom do you mean?" Says he, "that's Maj. Gee, damn him: If I had been in command I would have slaughtered every rascal in this prison." Says I, "that's a harsh expression." Says he, that's pretty much the feeling here."

I understood from some of the bystanders that if the guns that the prisoners had were not delivered in five minutes, that the artillery and musketry should be opened on them, and I stepped up to the Major and said, "Major, what are you going to do about those guns?" As he started to answer me a gun was fired on the scaffold; he immediately jumped off and said that the first gun was fired and he would arrest the man who fired it. He went off and in some time I said "what are you going to do with those guns in the hands of the prisoners?" He said there is no trouble about that; I am going to send in a guard and bring them out. I did not see him again for some days.

Q. Do you recollect about the citizens saying anything about Col. Hinton?

A. I heard several citizens remark that it was a great misfortune that a milk-and-water sort of a man was put there, and there was Col. Hinton, who if he had been put at the head of that post, never would have had this difficulty about the prisoners breaking out.

Q. Did you see Maj. Gee at the time?

A. I saw Maj. Gee rushing around to stop the firing. I saw him do nothing to prevent any further difficulty between the guards and citizens, except the order he issued to stop the firing.

The witness then gave a long account of the attempt of a Mr. Ayres to get beef in Virginia, which was unsuccessful. He corroborated the account given by Maj. Myers in his testimony, of the agreement that was made between him and Mr. Ayres.

The witness stated that he gave the government, while the prisoners were there, ten bbls. of flour and some beef; that he killed the cattle he had for his own private use, because of Major Myers' necessity.

Milling facilities were bad. Lumber was scarce.

There were other parties hauling wood into the prison besides myself. I did not put less than 500 feet on the road. The railroad was not able to haul it as fast as I cut it; there were 200 cords at the time of Stoneman's raid. The road was bad, the rolling stock worse and the officers were generally worse than either.

Cross Examined.—I dont remember the reason for the rumors that the prisoners were going to break out.

FORTY-SIXTH DAY.

THURSDAY, May 10th, 1866.

Capt. Langley Taylor, sworn:—Resides in Hertford Co. N. C., farmer, was Capt. Co. E. 68th. Regt. N. C. troops,—at Salisbury,—knows nothing of the killing of Lieut. Davis,—sentry who shot him was said to be Belch, 68th. regiment.

Senior reserves were prejudiced against Maj. Gee,—he would enforce discipline among them. Was officer of the day some three times at the prison. First time I received my instructions from the old officer of the day, in regard to the guard, etc.,—was to see that a lieutenant was kept at the gate. My orders were not to let any of the prisoners come nearer the stockade than ten feet, to keep officers and men among the prisoners separate. A line of sentinels was placed for this purpose. No communication between them was allowed. Don't recollect any special orders to those sentinels different from the others.

Sentinels were to halt prisoners approaching the stockade; gave no specific instructions to the sentinels about the number of times they were to halt them, different from the ordinary duties of sentinels. No different orders given them from those which would have been issued to sentinels guarding our own troops. I never served in the field. I visited the posts at least twice a day. Had no orders from Maj. Gee as to shooting prisoners. Only difference between that guard and a camp guard, was that it required more vigilance. I received orders to look out for tunnels. Maj. Gee said to make a thorough search that day, and I found one. It went about a foot beyond the stockade; I never found who made it. I have seen holes that they got out of, under the fence. I saw one between the water gate and the bakery, it was just large enough for a man to crawl through; the ground looked slick, as if several had crawled out. I can't tell how many. I saw one through the sinks. There was no difference between the prisoners of war and other prisoners, that I know of. I think the convicts were detailed oftener. We rarely ever drew our regular ration. I think the Commissary Sergeant took the number of men and gave it to the Colonel, and they were consolidated. I made out the number of men and the number of days. I was on detached service and could not draw the full rations. I was sent to cut wood on the Morganton road, for the prisoners. My men preferred to cut it themselves, rather than guard prisoners who were to have gone.

My company was 54 or 60 men. They gave us a bbl. ¼ full of sorghum, and flour or meal, about four day's rations. I could not get anything else.

Rations were issued irregularly; we would frequently get it in the evening and not ¼ the amount we were entitled to. When we were in camp at the prison we had to tote our wood or get it as we could. It was sometimes hauled in the regimental waggons. It was hard to get when we were on guard. The shelter for the guard was the sky above us.

Jas. W. Hinton was my Colonel. We moved our camp two or three times. Were on the S. side for a while and then were moved ¼ of a mile from the prison across the creek.

There was a difficulty between Maj. Gee and Col. Hinton about it. Maj. Gee was trying to get the regiment closer to the creek.

First day I acted as officer of guard, they were carried, one or two at a time, and a sentinel put behind two men.

The next time a number of sentinels under a Lieutenant, whose duty it was to make a line and let all go who wanted to; after this arrangement we had plenty of guard to take all that were ready to go. Think I have seen 50 or 60 prisoners going down. It was a common thing for them to wash in the creek.

It would not have been against my orders to let people give provisions to the soldiers. I had no orders on the subject.

I had orders not to allow the sentinels on duty to trade with them.

I have seen prisoners taking in pies. I did not prevent them. Have never known them taken away. Have seen the water guard urge on those who were lagging behind. I don't recollect seeing them buying provisions at the wood pile. The carrying in of provisions was common enough. They went in at the water gate and at the small gate at headquarters.—Can't say how often I have seen them carry in provisions at the small gate.

On the day of the outbreak I was on the train ready to leave. I heard the firing of cannon and orders to fall in and get there as soon as possible. I guess it was about 300 yards from the prison. Every one was to take charge of his company and get there as soon as possible. When I got to the North East corner I slacked up. I was feeble, and running made me feel very badly. (Witness goes to the map.) I went around to headquarters, and Major Gee was standing on the parapet. He reproved me very sharply, and told me to go back to my company, and "not to let a man fire a gun,"—to keep my men in line and off the parapet. I think I saw some citizens with double barrelled guns around by headquarters. We were in line all of two hours.

I saw an officer, represented to be Hoke's Adjutant, going around to keep men off the parapet. I don't think the firing lasted 4 minutes, because it had ceased before I arrived at the N. E. corner. I heard no volleys. The musketry had opened before we started, and all the cannons had fired. The principal rifle firing had ceased before we got within 100 yards of the N. E. corner.

Major Gee had nothing to do with the furloughs of my command. I got one, but not through him.

Cross Examined.—I got my furlough down here, the day we left Salisbury. My men got them through the commander of the troops.—The post commandant had to approve them.

There was a mark to show how near they could come to the stockade. I never served two days when the mark was the same.

There never was a gun fired while I was on duty. All I recollect of was the shooting of Lieutenant Davis.

Re Direct.—Maj. Gee never approved the furloughs. By commandant of post meant the commandant of prison forces. By change of line, I meant the ditch was cut further the second time I was officer of the day. The prison was cleaner the second time I was officer of the day.

To Court.—I was officer of the day after the U. S. officers were removed. The opening of the tunnel was (shows on map.) Between the entrance to it and the stockade, there was no ditch at the time.

W. A. W. Simmons, Monticello, Fla.—Was Sergt. of artillery at Salisbury. Our men had no shelter for 14 days; arrived there on the 22d Feb. 1865 [I understood 2500 prisoners left that day. I walked around on the platform.—The fence was not solid, it would shake; nothing but a palisade; a good many of the boards did not reach the ground. There were about 700 prisoners of war there. Maj Gee told me he had made several attempts through Gen. Finnegan to have his resignation accepted, and one attempt directly through the war department. He said he did not feel as if he was able to command the post. I have known him for five years. Was with him at Pensacola. He always bore the character of a humane gentleman.

The cannons at Salisbury were in a miserable condition; insufficiency of ammunition. There were no vent covers and the powder was caked; it took me about a day and a half to put them in condition. Think we could not have fired those guns with a torch.

We lost four men in our section in less than a month, from exposure. I went to Goodman when I went there to get a waggon to carry the baggage to camp. He said he did not know where his waggons were, that he was short of transportation.

I met Maj. Gee after the surrender, at Jacksonville, and asked him why he did not escape. He said he had nothing to escape for, that he did not care to leave the country, that he had done nothing. He was en route for Washington, was under parole and had the liberty of the city.—

The "Young Guards" think there is no man like Jno. H. Gee.

Cross Examined.—We had not the means to build shelters. We had tents back with our baggage, which was delayed. I suppose we did not get wood because transportation was scarce. I did not serve with Maj. Gee in the army of Northern Virginia.

[The remainder of Thursday's proceedings will be given in our next. The Court has adjourned until Monday A. M., 10 o'clock.]

THE LATE FLORAL TRIBUTE.—We are pleased to be able to publish, in lieu of any description of our own, the subjoined glowing account of the memorial exercises by our ladies on the 10th.—We thank our fair correspondent for her beautiful favor.

For the Sentinel.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Will you permit one, whose privilege it was to have participated in the memorial exercises of Thursday,—the anniversary of the death of our great and good Jackson—to give those of your readers, who were unable to attend, a slight sketch of what was said and done upon that occasion?

I have asked your consent to the pleasing task, for the performance of which I yet find myself totally inadequate; for words but feebly pourtray, to those who did not witness it, the beautiful and touching tribute to the memory of our dead hero and his gallant associates.

Agreeably to notice previously given, the ladies assembled within the walls of the Senate chamber, at 4 o'clock, P. M., bearing with them the wreaths and garlands of fresh roses, which with sad, yet grateful, hearts they had prepared for the occasion; sad, in the thought that naught else could they do for the brave men in whom they felt, and justly felt, such pride; and grateful for what they had done for them, even to the sacrifice of their lives. There was a general suspension of business throughout the city. The stores were closed, and, as if in unison with the scene, the clouds, which had worn a lowering aspect throughout the day, began to shed a gentle rain, like soft tears of regret for the memory of the loved and lost, when the agony of grief has departed. While the threatening appearance of the heavens undoubtedly deterred very many of the ladies from venturing out, quite a large number repaired to the Capitol at the appointed hour, and rarely has that old Hall embraced within its limits a fairer assemblage. The staid matron, sobered with the realities of existence, the blooming maiden with romantic visions of a rose-colored future, all aglow of life and hope, and little children, with grave faces and subdued footsteps, all were there, each with her heart offering of fragrant flowers interwoven and entwined into various fanciful forms. The air was literally laden with incense, which, as it rose, was typical, methought, of those emotions of gratitude and love, ascending from the altar of loving hearts,—a sacrificial offering to the memory of the fallen.

The ladies formed themselves into three divisions, corresponding to the localities intended to be visited, where are interred the Confederate dead.

Before leaving the Hall, they were, by request, addressed by Maj. Seaton Gales, who, in a few brief but eloquent words, dwelt upon the sacred memories of the day. His allusion to Stonewall Jackson was touchingly beautiful and appropriate, and found its way to the hearts of his hearers. He paid an affecting tribute to the memories of the brave sons of our "City of Oaks," and others, who now sleep within and around it; and dwelt pathetically upon the fact that while the triumphant and prosperous North was erecting magnificent mausoleums to its gallant dead, the impoverished and vanquished South could but enshrine her heroic dead in the hearts of her children. After Mr. G. concluded, the ladies then formed themselves into procession and proceeded to the several places where lie those who, though not victors in the late sanguinary strife, were honored in life, and whose name and fame are very precious to us.

"There's dearer dust in Memory's land,
Than the gold of rich Peru"

I was in the City Cemetery, while the graves of the gallant men buried there were being decorated, and I was forcibly impressed, not only with the beauty of the floral offerings and the unexceptional taste of their arrangement, but also with the true delicacy and gentle bearing of the fair distributors. Not a sound broke the silence of that city of the dead. Very quietly and impartially they distributed their favors, not forgetting the lowest private in the ranks, and then very quietly they came away.

I was pleased to notice among the graves so decorated, that of the father of Andrew Johnson; wherein, the ladies of his native city intended to show their appreciation of the true patriotism and statesmanship of the President, and their gratitude for the clemency and liberality he has shown to the South. This act of their's may not be considered by some a sufficient test of loyalty to "the powers that be"—probably it would avail them nothing before a "Destruction Committee." Yet there are those who, acquainted with a true woman's nature, and knowing that "the world of the affections is her world, not that of man's ambition," can well afford to believe that, when led by her own impulses to an act like that I have mentioned, the heart cannot be so filled with traitorous and treawonable thoughts and designs as some have imagined. It was a graceful deed, gracefully performed. All honor to the ladies; and may each flower-crowned hero sleep peacefully and well!

E.

ECCLESIASTICAL.—The Rt. Rev. Bishop Atkinson, as we learn from the Church Intelligencer, during his late Diocesan tour, confirmed eight persons at Tarboro, five at Scotland Neck, and three at Halifax.

THE BANKS.—The stockholders of the Bank of Commerce met in Newbern on Wednesday. A majority of the stock was represented in person and by proxy. The following named gentlemen were elected Directors: Jas. A. Bryan, A. T. Jerkins, J. W. Carmer, L. C. Desmond, I. W. Hughes, E. F. Smallwood and Jno. D. Flanner. The only business of public importance transacted was the passage of a resolution empowering the Board to close the affairs of the bank, in accordance with the act of Assembly, whenever they see proper.

The stockholders of the Commercial Bank of Wilmington met in that City on the 9th. A majority of stock was represented. The Wilmington papers make no mention of the result of the deliberations of the meeting.

ANOTHER CHARITY.—A number of ladies and gentlemen of Norfolk, Va., gave a Concert in that city, on Thursday evening, in behalf of the venerable Capt. Hugh N. Page, of Virginia, late of the C. S. Navy, for many years a resident of Portsmouth, but now a citizen of Granville County, in this State.

ROCKINGHAM SUPERIOR COURT.—This tribunal was in session last week,—Judge Gilliam presiding. We learn, from the Greensboro Patriot, that the docket was crowded with almost every grade of offence, from murder down to the most petty misdemeanor, the freedmen filling a large space thereon.

The case which excited the deepest interest and attracted the largest crowd, was that of Capt. Reuben E. Wilson. He was indicted on a charge of murder, in shooting some deserters and conscripts in the county of Forsythe during the war, while in command of a squad of soldiers, detailed from the army of Virginia, on special service. His case had been removed from Forsythe, but owing to the absence of important witnesses and the sickness of one of the prisoner's counsel, the case was continued till next term. The Judge admitted him to bail.

An Extraordinary Statement in Regard to Rheumatism and Pleurisy.

Peter Vaden, Esq., Dinwiddie county, Va., (Nov. 6, 1865) says: "In August 1857, my wife, aged 66 years, was taken ill with what the doctor called a Bilious Rheumatism affecting her whole system; rendering her entirely helpless, so much so, that she had to be lifted and fed as an infant, for the space of three months, suffering the most excruciating pain; her hands drawn out of shape and stiff, so that she could not use them. After all other remedies failed, in January 1858, I was advised to get the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS for her. She used the Pills strictly according to the directions accompanying them, and we soon discovered a change for the better, and in one month's using she was well, and continued so up to the present time; has become fleshy, cheerful, and as active as one could be of her age. One of my servants was taken with a violent attack of Bilious Pleurisy. I gave him those Pills, and in about ten days he was up and at his work; said that he felt as well as he ever did, and has continued well ever since.—Another was taken with Pleurisy. I gave the Pills, and she was well and at her work in ten days after she commenced using them. My Doctor's bill has been heretofore from $175 to $200 per year. I have used them in my family, which consists of eighteen white and colored, and have not called in a doctor during the year. This is a great saving. They certainly are the best family medicine ever discovered. After a fair trial I can recommend them as such."

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 41 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS AND SALVE.

These Life-giving remedies are now given publicly to the world. For over a quarter of a century of private practice the ingredients in these

LIFE-GIVING PILLS!

For in every case they add new life and vitality, and restore the waning energies to their pristine state.—To the young and middle-aged they will prove most invaluable, as a ready, specific and sterling medicine. An Eternal Spring!

It was left for this day and hour to realize the dream, and show in one glorious fact, that magic that made it fair.

THESE FAMOUS REMEDIES

Cannot stay the fight of years, but they can force back and hold aloof, diseases that might triumph over the aged and the young. Let none hesitate then, but seize the favorable opportunity the offers. When taken as prescribed—

FOR BILLIOUS DISORDERS

Nothing can be more productive of cure than these Pills. Their almost magic influence is felt at once, and the usual concomitants of this great distressing disease are removed. These remedies are made from the purest

VEGETABLE COMPOUNDS,

They will not harm the most delicate female, and can be given with good effect in prescribed doses to the youngest babe.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

With corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood, you are sick all over. It may burst out in Pimples, or Sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula, or Kings' Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, also Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints, and Heart Diseases. Try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and see for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these disorders.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound "Sar-aparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. We can only assure the sick, that we offer them the best alterative which we know how to produce, and we have reason to believe, it is by far the most effectual purifier of the blood yet discovered by any body.

Ayers Cherry Pectoral is so universally known to surpass every other remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease, that it is useless here to recount the evidence of its virtues. The world knows them.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

COTTON GINS,

MANUFACTURED BY

W. G. CLEMONS, BROWN & CO.,

COLUMBUS, GA.

WE have received the manufacture of Cotton Gins in this city, and will be prepared to fill orders by 1st June next. As we shall not be, as heretofore, represented by traveling agents, parties wishing our Gins, will confer a favor by sending in their orders at an early day. As owing to the demand, we shall be unable to keep a stock in the hands of our local agents, as it was our practice before the war. All business transactions being now reduced to cash, our sales will be made on the basis of ready pay.

Our Gins are too well known to require any special notice or commendation; we believe they are unrivalled in the chief points of excellence which go to make up a superior machine, namely: Speed light draught and good sample.

Our DOUBLE CYLINDER GINS will be found superior to the single cylinder, when parties have steam or good water power, to give them the necessary speed. In all cases when this can be done, we recommend them in preference to the single cylinder. If, however, indifferent or insufficient power is used, they will not do as well as the single Gin.

Messrs. DEROSSET & CO., Wilmington, N. C., are our general agents for the State of North Carolina.

W. G. CLEMONS, BROWN & CO.

Columbus, Ga., April 24 '66

We will give prompt attention to orders for the above celebrated Gins from any part of the State. The price is five dollars per Saw at the Factory, and five dollars for each Gin will only be charged to purchasers for transportation to this point.

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

From the New York News.

Letter from Asa Hartz.

JACQUE O'DIMUNTZ, Esq:

MY DEAR BOWER.—I am glad the doctor vaccinated me before I left home.

Vaccination is thought to be a good thing, my dear Bower, as a preventive of certain loathsome diseases, and I believe it is. At any rate I am sound—sound, my Bower, on the general goose.

Quitting the rural shades of my country home, I recently paid a visit to Washington and to New York. I was anxious to see and hear all that was to be seen and heard, and a man possessing a due amount of curiosity is apt to have his weakness gratified in one or both those places.

Washington is a big thing in its way, and its way is peculiarly its own. You are probably aware, my Bower, that of late years people are in the habit of picking out the craziest men they can find, and of sending those so chosen to the Central Asylum at Washington. There they are permitted to give free vent to all the vagaries of distempered imagination, and each man's idiosyncracy finds an airing. True, sometimes you will find an exception to this rule, but it is rare. For instance, my Bower, some warped intellect, an inmate of the asylum, whose days have been passed in a study of representative government, takes up the laughable idea that the great American people have a Constitution which governs the conduct of law makers. He is insane enough to think that everybody else hugs the same singular delusion. He grows eloquent on the subject, but is generally brought to grief by some of the less crazy of his associates.

A short time since I visited the Lunatic Asylum at Washington for the first time. Went into both wards of the building. It's a fine house, and the magnificence thereof, no doubt, has a mollifying influence over the inmates.

When I reached the hall used by those facetiously called representatives, a gentleman from Unowhere was eloquently urging the necessity of national aid to a canal, or some other nonsensical measure of internal improvement. He talked well, my Bower, but, as a general thing, no one of his fellow-representatives heard a word he said. There was one crazy chap sitting near him with upturned face and most attentive appearance. I borrowed an opera glass from a saddle colored visitor, and brought it to bear upon the attentive looking man. Imagine my horror when I discovered, my Bower, that he was fast asleep! A crazy man from Illinois got up a short time afterward and remarked, with considerable method in his madness, that the gentleman from Unowhere didn't have "enough nigger in his bill, and it couldn't pass."

I had a great desire to see Thad and look into his "breeches pocket." Accordingly called upon the doorkeeper and begged him to point out the crazy Pennsylvanian. He did so, my Bower, and I found myself in the presence of a darkey, so black that printer's ink would make a white mark upon his face. I approached the greyhaired old chap and contemplated him with feelings which invariably produce the desire to take a dank. Could it be possible that the renowned Thaddeus was only a darkey, after all? or, was it probable that incessant legislating upon the negro, talking negro, thinking, dreaming and sleeping negro, had produced the change of skin which was before me? I accepted the latter theory as highly probable, and accosted the great man with the utmost reverence, thus:

"Hello! old Steve!' How are you? How does she run?"

The sage of Radicalism replied, as he fingered his wool and exhibited his ivory:

"I guess you'se mistaken; you is. Dis ai'nt Mr. Stevens; dis is Bill."

"Ah," said I, "Bill! what Bill?"

"Civil Rights Bill, Sah! Yah! yah! yah!"

My Bower, I am not sharp—as a general thing—still you will excuse me for saying that I failed to see the point of this highly colored joke, and while this ebony knob on a freedman's bureau drawer turned his shins in an opposite direction, I wandered, highly cussified, into the vast rotunda of the Capitol, there to indulge in a little private swearing at the courteous doorkeeper who had played upon my credulity by introducing a negro to me as Thad. S.

I havn't fully recovered yet.

The pictures and things in the rotunda are, generally speaking, very pretty. Especially is this true of the "Landing of the Pilgrims"—Indeed, my Bower, I thought if it had never been more than a picture the country would have been spared much of the suffering and horror which it has undergone to satisfy the so-called philanthrophy of those who boast of being the descendants of those very Pils.

But vaccination is a good thing, my Bower, and it saved me from much trouble in Washington; for I got off safely and reached New York uncontaminated.

The most distressing incident of the trip from Washington to New York was the breaking down of the sleeping car in which was deposited the body of that great and good warrior, Gen. Bottled F. Butler. I saw him next morning, my Bower, while crossing on the ferry boat. The mighty Ben. was standing between a vencrable citizen and myself, and presented to me a side view of his historic carcass, likewise of his face. He knew the venerable citizen, and feelingly portrayed the danger to which he had been subjected, and the narrow escape he had. He was looking, doubtless, at the gentleman to whom he was talking, but I was so positive that he was addressing me, that, though almost behind him, I could not shrink from the range of that other eye. I have no doubt, my Bower, that Benjamin can read the thoughts of your mind by looking into your face with one eye, while the other is wandering through the coppers and postal currency which may occupy the remote corners of your pantaloons. He can do it.

But I have reached the end of my sheet, Jacque, and must close. Will write you again, and give you my impressions of New York so soon as I get my notes in order.

Kiss for me the lovely woman you board with, and tell her to get vaccinated at once.

Yours, vaccinated,
ASA HARTZ.

DANVILLE, VA., May 1866.

COPARTNERSHIP.

NEWBERN, N. C., November 1st, 1865.

WE HAVE THIS DAY FORMED A COPARTnership under the name and style of

Whitford, Dill & Co.,

for the transaction of a Shipping and General

Commission Business, in this Town, West side Craven Street, on old County Wharf.

To the sale of Cotton, Naval Stores, Tobacco, Lumber, Staves, Shingles, Corn, and all kinds of Produce and Merchandise, and also to the sale and purchase of Real Estate and State and other Stocks, we will give our personal attention.

We are Agents for Murry's North Carolina Semi Weekly Line of Steamships, between Newbern and New York, and for Sailing Vessels for Baltimore Philadelphia, and other ports in the United States and for different ports in the West Indies. Thus it will be seen that we are furnished by our own vessels with the amplest facilities for the speedy transportation of Freight and Passengers. But in addition to these, there is a weekly line of Ocean Steamships on the same route, and a tri-weekly line of Steamers by inland route through Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal to Norfolk, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York; hence Merchants and Shippers entrusting the transportation of their freight to us, can rely with confidence on its speedy transit.

☞ We will make liberal advances on consignments.

All letters addressed to us on the subject of freight, or on any other business, will be promptly answered

JOHN D. WHITFORD,
GEORGE W. DILL,
WM. C. WHITFORD.
